Demand Sugar Supply Increase For Americans

House Food Study Committee Demands 10 To 15 Pounds Increase For Housewives In '47

FOOD COUNCIL TO DECIDE ON MONDAY

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A bi-partisan house food study committee demanded today that secretary of Agriculture Anderson increase the 1947 supply of sugar for the American housewife by 10 to 15 pounds.

The eight-member group, headed by Rep. Anderson (R) Minn., submitted a unanimous report to the house agriculture committee urging that Anderson withhold from export sufficient supplies of Cuban sugar to permit the increase.

Will Place Responsibility
Anderson told newsmen that if the international emergency food council failed to meet in Washington Monday to decide upon a distribution among 30 member nations of the 1946-47 exportable Cuban sugar crop of four million, 400 thousand short tons, which is owned by the United States.

The committee insisted that of this amount approximately three million 300 thousand short tons "must be retained" by Anderson for American consumption in order to meet the goals it suggested. Anderson said the final decision rested with the secretary of agriculture.

Must Be Reduced
Anderson told newsmen that the department of agriculture apparently plans a five pound per capita increase in sugar supplies "after April 1" but insisted that "modest minimum goals" recommended by his group required that it be boosted from 25 pounds per capita in 1946 to 35 or 40 pounds this year.

The committee recommended also that industrial and institutional users be given a 33 per cent increase, sufficient to equal 80 per cent of the 1941 base period use, as compared with 60 per cent in 1946.

If the committee's recommendations are met, the report continued, there will be available for foreign export approximately one million.

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle Fire department's trusty hook and ladder which is seldom seen on the streets unless a serious fire is in progress in one of the large downtown buildings, was out at noon today making several test runs in the South Jefferson street area.

Harry P. Amberson, of 3 Culbertson place, informed Pa. News this morning, that he has a very fine collection of Indian arrow heads, that he collected in the Wampum, West Pittsburgh and Cascade park areas. He has an especially nice head that he picked up near the gorge at the park.

Mrs. Earl Grinner of Wampum, was out in her yard Friday morning looking over her flower beds, when she discovered a plot of pansies in bloom. Mrs. Grinner was quite excited over her find, she told Pa. News over the telephone.

Mrs. Monroe Manbeck, of Mt. Jackson road, reports that Thursday afternoon she opened the back door to let "Judy" the dog out for a run and she heard frogs croak in a small pond just below their garage.

Sixty births were recorded at the New Castle hospital for the month of January, with 32 male infants born and 28 female infants. Included was a set of twin boys.

Groundhog Is Ready For Annual Survey

Well, it's anybody's guess. Maybe he will and maybe he won't see his shadow.

This year the prognosticators can't even estimate what the weather may be like on Sunday—the day on which the Groundhog ventures out.

It may be warm and sunny like so many Sundays have been this winter, and Groundie and all his family will be out casting shadows like mad. Then comes winter, but definitely, for the next six weeks.

On the other hand, it may be rainy and miserable, or it may be snowy and windy, with a baby blizzard every half hour. Then comes no shadow, and no more winter. You can roll the lawn and spade up the garden Monday.

But the weather has been so open all winter, that the Groundhog may not have gone into his hole in the first place, and figures "what difference does one more day make any more? I'm losing my grip on the weather!"

And who can blame him if he's losing faith? Every one else is a little bit confused also.

Long Strike Ends Publication Of Three Big Papers

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(INS)—The Evening Bulletin announced today it will purchase the assets of the strikebound Philadelphia Record and the Camden, N. J., Evening Courier and Morning Post.

The three papers, which were struck by the CIO-American Newspaper Guild last November 7, announced through Publisher J. David Stern that publication would be suspended as of today.

The Bulletin company said it had "committed" to buy the trio of newspapers and WCAU, a 50,000 watt radio station owned by Stern. In making the announcement, Stern pointed out that the guild strike, involving more than 400 editorial and office employees at the Record alone, had been in progress nearly three months.

'No Fair Settlement'
"It has been impossible to obtain a fair settlement which would assure this newspaper of its ability to discharge its obligation to the public," Stern said in the Record.

"Guild policy," he added, "has acted to restrict the rights of management to a degree which has become too great a burden to operate a completely independent press."

Officers of the local guild were understood to have called a meet-

Sail From Portsmouth On Three-Months Trip To South Africa

JOURNEY WILL BE HISTORY MAKING

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 1.—(INS)—King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and their two daughters sailed from Portsmouth today on a history-making three-months trip to South Africa.

Standing on a gun turret of a "ship of the line," the royal family waved gaily to those of their subjects who thronged to the shore despite steadily-falling snow.

The battleship, H.M.S. Vanguard—aboard which the royal party was piped with full naval ceremonies last evening—sailed out of the naval base at 7:21 a. m. (2:21 a. m. EST).

Escorting the man-of-war were the aircraft carrier Implacable, the cruisers Cleopatra and Diadem, and the destroyer St. James.

Snow was falling when the Vanguard slipped its lines and sailed into the channel to start the royal family on their three-months tour, which incidentally is the first time the young princesses have left the confines of the British Isles.

The king and queen, with Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, stood atop a gun turret acknowledging cheers from the shore as the vessel set sail.

The royal family had been piped aboard the battleship last evening after a journey by car and train from Buckingham Palace to the port.

Senate G.O.P. Will Push Anti-Portal Pay Bill

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Senate GOP leaders pushed today anti-portal pay bill to the top of the legislative agenda today on the theory that any final court solution of the issue would come too late.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, Republican policy chairman, announced that the bill to nullify portal pay suits would be the first major legislation to reach the Senate floor.

He said it would be followed by the legislative budget; February 15, legislation limiting the President's term to two four-year terms, extension of sugar and rubber rationing authority, and the overall labor bills slated for March 15.

But sources close to the portal pay problem saw little chance of the Senate Judiciary committee reporting out the portal bill next week, which Taft indicated was possible.

The Judiciary committee's Monday meeting already is assigned to other matters and the subcommittee hand-

Announcement Of Agreement Is Made By President Truman Today

SIGNIFICANT STEP SEEN BY PRESIDENT (BULLETIN)

The chief executive hailed the agreement as a significant forward step toward achieving industrial peace in all industry.

Mr. Truman made his announcement at a special news conference.

The president, announcing the agreement, said that it should prove a highly important forward step in speeding the construction of vitally-needed housing.

Joint Letter Made Public

Mr. Truman made public a joint letter from the Associated General Contractors of America and the building and construction trades department of the American Federation of Labor.

In the letter, labor and management agreed to submit any disputes to collective bargaining without work stoppages, lockouts or strikes. The chief executive said that the agreement "is a significant step forward in industrial relations in this country."

He expressed the hope that the agreement might form the pattern for similar action throughout industry which would bring the country back to a basis of peaceful collective bargaining of labor-management disputes without further disastrous strikes.

Labor and management representatives of the building industry formed the committee in the building and construction industry.

Davis - Blanchard Turned Down On Furlough Request

War Department Secretary
Patterson Refuses To Grant Pro Football
Furloughs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Members of Congress were expected today to generally approve of the War Department's rejection of applications for three Army all-Americans for leaves of absence to play professional football.

The requests, made by Halfback Glenn Davis, Fullback Felix Blanchard and End Barney Poole, were turned down by Secretary of War Patterson after the applications were rushed to the top Army level for a decision.

Officers Needed
In announcing Patterson's decision, the War Department said that requirements of military training "cannot favorably consider granting extended leave of absence for engaging in private enterprise."

The statement also said that there is a shortage of second lieutenants overseas and that such junior officers are being sent on foreign service after they have received necessary schooling.

Davis, Blanchard and Poole applied for four-months leaves of absence to turn their football playing ability into a financial asset.

No Immediate Action
There was no immediate reaction from members of Congress to Patterson's decision, but the legislators generally expressed disapproval of the applications earlier.

One factor determining Patterson's decision was believed to be the precedent he would have established by approving the requests.

Army officials pointed out granting the leaves would have opened the way for future requests by other gridiron stars.

DEMAND SUGAR SUPPLY INCREASE FOR AMERICANS

100 thousand tons of United States—owned Cuban sugar, about 500,000 tons less than the amount that was available from the Cuban crop last year.

Increased Production
Offsetting this reduction, the committee stated, was an estimated increased production in the European area of one million, 883 thousand tons.

The committee emphasized that in 1947 the American housewife was able to purchase 55 pounds of sugar.

It estimated United States minimum requirements for 1947 at approximately seven million, 200 thousand short tons, of which this country will produce about three million, 808 thousand tons.

The balance, it stated, can only come from the Cuban sugar supply. Little sugar is available, it pointed out, from the Philippines, formerly a major source of supply.

The committee recommended also that action be taken now to spur sugar production for 1948.

honest, forthright public servant." The two senators are co-sponsors with Sens. Hawkes R. N. J. Cain (R. Wash.) and Malone (D. Nev.) of a bill which would increase rent ceilings a flat 15 per cent and exempt new construction from ceiling restrictions.

They agreed that Fleming's earlier backing of a general increase would greatly enhance the legislation's chance for adoption.

Admits Responsibility
Fleming, in admitting responsibility for ordering the announcement of a 10 per cent rent hike, which was spiked at the last minute by President Truman, told the banking committee he had not known the President's policy when he gave the order.

He indicated, however, that he had reason to believe the White House was not opposed to such a move.

Fleming disclosed that he had conferred with Presidential Aide John R. Steedman on the matter, and had been told it was his own responsibility. He said Steedman gave him no orders, for or against the move.

The OTC chief conceded that he followed the orders of the President as his commanding officer in reversing his stand publicly.

He explained that he had decided on the order because of the administrative problem of expeditiously handling all hardship cases with a greatly curtailed enforcement staff.

He said it would have corrected a large number of inequities without further delay.

ways and means committee, disclosed the GOP economy plans Friday after a meeting of the joint congressional budget subcommittee.

Knutson said that "the general sentiment" of the subcommittee members "seemed to be that one million persons could be dropped from the government payroll."

Taber said that some members had opposed any personnel reduction at all although others advocated slashing as many as one million persons from the federal payroll.

Meanwhile, Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, joined House Republican leaders in forecasting that Congress will authorize a graduated scale of income tax reductions instead of the proposed 20 per cent across-the-board cut.

Knutson told a radio audience last night that Congress will not grant that 20 per cent slash but "there probably will be a graduated income tax cut, such as 10, 15, and 20 per cent."

The Ohio senator did not elaborate on his statement, but it was presumed that the lower figure would apply to high income brackets and the higher reduction to lower income levels.

BRITISH CIVILIANS RUSH TO COMPOUNDS IN PALESTINE AREAS

evacuation order to "non-essential" civilians was announced yesterday, an official spokesman said the "quit Palestine" edict will be served today on those British affected.

Will Clear Up Doubts
This will clear up doubts in everyone's mind as to whether each is concerned with the order.

Meanwhile, the wives of British government officials and certain business leaders called a protest meeting this afternoon. They decided upon joint action to be taken in regard to the evacuation order.

The wives and children of some 500 British troops were among those who scurried behind barbed-wire barricades to await their evacuation ships.

They represented the vanguard of an estimated 2,000 families ordered by British high commission Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham to quit the tension-laden Holy Land, so that his troops may have a free hand in dealing with the extremists.

Fear Martial Law
As Jewish quarters nervously predicted that the evacuation order—which includes all "non-essential" British civilians—might be followed by establishment of martial law. The evacuees began the first stage of their exodus.

Acting on orders from authorities, they moved to the protection of the camps at the Allenby barracks in Jerusalem and at Safad and cantonment outside Tel Aviv.

There they will await the arrival of "boat trains" which will start them on their evacuation journey. The first evacuees are scheduled to depart sometime tonight, with the mass withdrawal expected to be complete by Tuesday.

Troops Guard Areas
Armed British troops guarded the protection areas, which were surrounded by triple banks of wire. Powerful searchlights swept the surrounding countryside during the night, creating a "no-man's land" in the darkness.

Just where the evacuees will be taken was not immediately revealed, though the consensus was that evacuee boats, now enroute to Palestine ports, would transfer them to one of the nearest British zones.

At London, the British war office said that the evacuation had been made to receive the army families in England. A spokesman expressed the belief that they will be accommodated temporarily in the Suez Canal zone or Cyprus.

(Later, if return to Palestine is impossible, arrangements will be made then for permanent transfer to Britain.)

There were no indications that American residents were preparing to evacuate the Holy Land. The U. S. consul general has not advised any Americans to leave, and American officials doubt that U. S. nationals will incur risks similar to those of British civilians.

which is voluntarily submitted to the committee by mutual agreement of the parties involved in the dispute.

Letter Is Read
A similar program in the electrical construction industry has maintained industrial peace in that field for 25 years.

The letter, read by the president at his news conference, said further: "Having established this voluntary machinery to settle disputes in this important industry without stoppage of work by lockout or strike, our organizations intend to exert every effort to see that these procedures are used wherever possible to settle any dispute that may arise—over the terms of new contracts or over the interpretation of existing agreements."

"This important industry is anxious to accept its responsibility—both labor and management. We will make our contribution toward providing the highest possible measure of industrial peace."

Other Instances
Mr. Truman called attention to other instances of what he said was "good labor news" during the past ten days.

He spoke of the U. S. Steel Corp. agreement with its employees on eliminating inequities in pay; a two-year study, agreement by the same corporation and its workers to postpone expiration date of their present contract, and the agreement by the U. S. Rubber Company and a CIO union on a contract.

PROPOSE MERGER OF A.F.L. AND C.I.O.

"organic unity and solidarity within the ranks of labor to meet all attacks on organized labor."

The projected unification plan stemmed from a proposal made on Dec. 5 by Murray calling for cooperation between the two labor federations to fight enactment of state and national legislation that the unions deemed aggressive to labor.

Green and the AFL council replied to Murays' communication yesterday and asked for an all-out unified campaign rather than mere "cooperation."

The AFL reply suggested that both the CIO and the American Federation designate committees to meet and discuss the move.

Murray Silent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers, today said he had no comment on a proposal by the American Federation of Labor that the two big labor groups merge into one organization.

"I have not received a communication from the AFL, and until I do receive it, I can say nothing regarding their proposal for a merger," he told International News Service at his home.

In Memoriam
Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, died in Chicago, Monday, Jan. 27, at the age of 78. Paul built in 1905 a living memorial that today reaches throughout the world.

We will have a business meeting with a talk by Johnnie McClelland on the "High Spots of Japan." We know this will be of interest to all.

Our speaker, the Judge, last week drew a larger member audience than Fulton Lewis, Jr.

One who was most active in the dinner, broadcast and lecture suggests that any critic of the affair read the next to the last paragraph on the last page of the Rotarian magazine under "Comments."

BRITISH ROYAL FAMILY LEAVES FOR LONG TOUR

tion had been filled with spectators. Crowds also jammed the flag-decked station.

The king wore the uniform of a fleet admiral, and the queen was dressed in pale beige. Princess Elizabeth wore pale blue and her sister, pale pink, during the journey yesterday.

On arrival at Portsmouth, the party had been received by the lord mayor and other town officials as well as naval guard of honor. Spectators cheered as the royal family stepped on the platform which was decorated with flowers.

Once aboard the Vanguard after an half-mile motorcade trip from the station to the ship, the king inspected the guard of honor of Royal Marines.

Dowager Queen Mary, the Duke of Gloucester and the Princess Royal—who will act for the king in his absence—visited the royal family in their quarters on the shelter deck. So also did the Duchess of Kent.

In Memoriam

May wither and decay,
But the love for her who lies beneath
Will never fade away."

SENATE GO TO PUSH PORTAL PAY BILL

ling the portal pay legislation is still in the progress of digesting testimony.

No Delay Justification
Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., a judicial member, said in reply to a question that he saw "no justification" for holding up the portal legislation on the off-chance that the Supreme Court might water down or reverse its decision in the Mt. Clemens case.

It was on the basis of the Mt. Clemens decision that a flood of labor union claims for back portal-to-portal pay—approximately five billion dollars—were filed in various district courts.

Ferguson asserted that any realignment of facts by the Michigan district court which handed down the original Mt. Clemens decision still would have to come to the supreme court. He said:

The Supreme Court has laid down the principle and other district court decisions will be coming along soon based on that.

"That would take months and Congress might not be in session before it was settled finally."

Taft told reporters following a policy meeting that "the general consensus" among GOP leaders is that the second war powers act should be permitted to expire March 15.

THEY USED TO SAY:

"Woman's work is never done"

• MODERN SCIENCE has taken much of the drudgery out of the homemaker's daily routine.

For instance, with one of the modern washing machines and plenty of hot water always on tap, it takes only a few morning hours, instead of a day of back breaking toil, to do the weekly washing.

• MODERN WATER SUPPLY, always "on tap", is one of the greatest, and least expensive, aids to the modern homemaker.

Bonds Are Better

Some nights ago in Philadelphia, thieves broke into a Philadelphia home and stole $9500 which was in a steel box, the life savings of a Philadelphia couple. Apparently the couple had never heard of banks with Federal Deposit Insurance, nor of Buildings and Loans nor of Government Bonds.

One of the surest ways to keep money these days is to buy Series E, United Savings Bonds. They are to all effects and purposes dollars in a different garb, but dollars that keep on growing.

If a government bond isn't any good, it seems to us there isn't much in this country that is good. Buying a bond is investing in a piece of the United States. If this fails, the banks and the insurance companies will be worth no more. But the government isn't going to fail.

Perhaps it is a pleasant way to spend an evening counting out a flock of foiding money and listening to the crisp crackle of the paper as it passes through your hands.

But it's a mighty poor way to keep your savings and while we sympathize with the robbed couple in Philadelphia we still wonder what kind of reasoning prompted their peculiar actions.

If you have any money between mattresses or packed away in a tobacco jar down the cellar, dig it out and buy government bonds.

You'll sleep better nights.

Saved By A-Bombs

The United States made fully justifiable use of the only two atomic bombs in existence in 1945. That is the only conclusion which fairly can be drawn from former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson's disclosures in Harper's Magazine. The average American needs no defense of the use of these bombs to end the war started by the Japs at Pearl Harbor.

Secretary Stimson asserts in his article that military leaders were convinced that unless atomic bombs were used, the war on Japan would not end before the latter part of 1946 "at the earliest," with an anticipated cost of more than 1,000,000 casualties to American forces alone.

There is no way of proving whether the military men's estimate of 1,000,000 American lives saved by the A-bombs is too high or too low. But there is no doubt that cost in human life would have been terrific in the air, land and sea operations necessary to invasion of Japan.

It might not be amiss to remind humanitarians, who hate to think of the horrors of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, that Japanese loss of life would have been far greater in a full dress invasion than in those two regrettable but necessary mass bombings.

Oversold

There is an element of truth in the comment of Secretary of Commerce Harriman that the public has been oversold on the air age. In an excess of enthusiasm, writers on aviation have given people an exaggerated idea of the degree of safety and reliability which may be expected from air travel at the present time. The inability of aviation to live up to these great expectations has added to the sense of disillusionment and shock which the recent series of air tragedies has caused.

These crashes have led, quite understandably, to an insistent demand for safer air travel. But they should not be permitted to overshadow the truly amazing progress which aviation has made during its comparatively brief career.

Men have been flying for only a little more than a generation but in that period they have gone a long way toward conquest of this new element. As Secretary Harriman says, "It may be shown that commercial flying on scheduled, domestic air lines is more than twice as safe as riding in an automobile over comparative distances."

That is still far from safe enough, but no one talks about giving up riding in automobiles despite the tens of thousands of persons killed in highway crashes every year. Trains are not leaving stations with empty passenger coaches as a result of the recent series of railroad wrecks.

What the public needs is a better-balanced conception of what can be expected of air travel. It is neither fair nor helpful to aviation to lead people to expect it to deliver more than it can possibly do in the present state of aviation development.

Here's A New One

A Japanese invention to resist invasion of home shores might well put a spur to treasure hunting and scientific exploration of the sea bottom. According to the U. S. Navy, the Japs were experimenting with a self-contained diving suit equipped with two tanks each holding 25 liters of pure oxygen.

After donning this equipment a diver could walk more than a mile an hour at a depth of 50 feet. It was estimated men could stay under the water for eight hours. Under the Jap plan, each man would carry a charge of explosive on a stick. Walking under a vessel, he would jab the explosive against a ship bottom and go to his ancestors when the charge went off. Thus the diver rated with the suicide filer, and to bolster morale he held the same standing in the Jap navy as a warship.

Diver exploring sunken ships have always been hampered by air tubes. If the tube is snarled, trouble starts. Exploring a sunken hulk with no tubes dangling behind them, they could go places the conventional diver must dodge.

France is having a lot of trouble in Indo-China, but so far as we know she hasn't yet got around to blaming it all onto the American G.I.

TRAGEDY ON THE HALF SHELL

Scientists have just proven that an oyster will live 10 months while frozen solid. That seems to be a pretty rugged way to treat an inoffensive creature that never bothered anyone.

Though the oyster's life is an extremely unhappy one, he has never been heard to complain.

Though a baby oyster is called a spat, he never learns the first principle about fighting—even in self-defense.

When born a baby oyster discovers he has from 16,000,000 to 60,000,000 brothers and sisters. Displayed at the prospect of trying to make good against competition like that, he sinks to the bottom of the ocean, asking only to be let alone.

However, an oyster has more enemies than a northerner trying to mix in on Georgia politics.

Everything that swims tries to make a meal of him. He spends his life keeping the door closed against would-be dinner guests.

To while away the tedium of his existence, an oyster will sometimes fashion a pearl. But he doesn't know what to do with it. Then along comes a human and shows what pearls are for. But, by this time, the oyster is past caring.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS
CHILD

Seek To Avoid Boom And Bust

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A delegation of top-drawer bankers paid a solemn call on Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder recently. After some polite preliminaries, they got down to the real purpose of their mission.

That was to urge on Snyder the need for tax reduction in the upper income brackets. Only in this way, the solemn argument went, would there be sufficient surplus capital for new investment in new plants to create new production. Included in the delegation were top executives of the American Bankers Association, who fix the policy of that potent organization.

While Snyder listened courteously to their argument, he made it perfectly clear that the Truman administration favors tax reduction for the man with a small income rather than for the big taxpayer. In the House, too, an almost solid Democratic minority has begun to open up on the Republican proposal for a 20 per cent across-the-board tax cut, which would save a lot of money for the big taxpayer and only a little for the little taxpayer. Representative John Dingell, Aime Forand, Herman Eberhart, and other Democratic members of the House ways and means committee, plan to attack Chairman Harold Knutson's tax proposal at every opportunity, as they did in the House the other day.

History Repeats

What is so strange in all this is the way in which history repeats itself. All through the 20's, a Republican secretary of the treasury, the late Andrew W. Mellon, went on the theory that tax reductions in the upper brackets would make for prosperity. The Democrats, led by that tough fighter and shrewd politician, John Nance Garner, insisted on tax reductions for the man with a small income.

The Mellon policy did make for prosperity for a while. It made for the greatest boom in America's history. And then came the greatest bust in our history. The crash of 1929 and after shook the very foundations of the American system. The men in the Truman administration responsible for economic policy want to avoid another such boom-and-bust. They look on this matter of tax reduction as one of the two or three most vital factors.

An across-the-board 20 per cent tax reduction, such as Knutson proposes, would mean a tax saving of about $12,000 to a man with an income of $100,000 a year. But to the man paying taxes of $2,000 a year, it would mean a saving of only $400.

Tax Reduction Idea

There has been considerable support in the administration for a tax reduction of a flat $200 for all taxpayers. This would eliminate millions of citizens who pay so little tax that the cost of collection is greater than the return to the government from the taxpayer. It would make it possible to scale down the vast bureaucracy now engaged in tax collection.

But that is not the primary reason why this proposal has important backing. The real reason is that it would increase purchasing power among the mass of consumers at a time when it is vitally important to maintain a national income of $150,000,000,000. The small-income man who saves $200 on his taxes will spend all or most of it on things for his family, as contrasted with the man saving $12,000, who will put most of it into the bank or into investments. Such hard-headed realists as Chairman Marriner Eccles of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System have been pointing out that we are entering a period of deflation and that should be cushioned in every possible way, in order to try to keep the national income at a high level.

What is most amazing is to find the bankers arguing once again—just as though 1929 had never happened—for the old theory of help the rich and thereby create jobs for the not-so-rich. Their argument for new funds for investment comes at a time when banks and insurance companies are so chock-full of money that they do not know what to do with it. It comes at a time when the private savings of the top five per cent of the population are at a phenomenally high level.

These same bankers, and with them representatives of the big insurance companies, have also been urging an increase in interest rates. The treasury and the Federal Reserve are saying no in this instance too. Policy-makers feel that a rise in the interest rate would likewise contribute to a boom-and-bust cycle. They want, if possible, to prevent a repetition of the errors of the 20s. To risk repeating 1929-33 is a risk no man in his right senses wants to take.

Hints On Etiquette

If you are introduced to a person you have known and with whom you are not friendly, simply say "How do you do?" pleasantly and let it go at that. It will save embarrassment to the person who makes the introduction.

Women!

Are you really the "Lost Sex," as you are called in the new book entitled "Modern Woman; the Lost Sex?"

Are you really as bad as Dr. Marynia P. Farnham and her co-author, a mere man, say you are?

Dr. Farnham is a psychiatrist in private practice and also a consultant at several psychiatric institutions.

At any rate, if you ladies think you are making progress and getting somewhere in this civilization of ours, this pessimistic book certainly doesn't agree with you.

According to the authors, you are "lightly displaced persons." Modern life has disrupted the home, the authors say, substituting bickering and neglect for the fine old family atmosphere.

There is quite a bit in this book about mistaking. Unquestionably a lot of married people should never have married at all, as I have said several times in this column, only in much less erudite language.

Here is a juicy little passage from the book:

"Some unknown percentage of women classified as housewives are functionally little more than wastrels, in metropolitan areas seething into afternoon movies, teas, cocktail lounges, expensive shopping centers."

"Many of these are neurotic as well as parasitic, and men often find them erotically unrewarding as well."

One of the reviewers of the book remarked, "I wonder whether the house of Harper (the publishers) will give a literary tea for the authors?"

And I wonder where the authors got all that stuff about modern women.

"The home is in such poor condition," they say, "that it merits a."

The World and the Mud Puddles

BETTER "HAS CREATED"

Senator James Murray, Montana Democrat and long liaison man between the New Deal and the PAC, warns his colleagues that "drastic labor legislation will create 'serious bitterness and conflict.' Just what Senator Murray considers 'drastic' he does not say. The accepted and standardized viewpoint of labor leaders and labor politicians seems to be that anything which might interfere with the tranny of organized labor, or safeguard the interests of the general public is "drastic."

There is some unconscious irony in Senator Murray's statement that anti-labor legislation will create "serious bitterness and conflict." What does the Senator mean, "create"? What does he think we have had in this country for the past sixteen months, except "serious bitterness and conflict"? What does he call the perpetual strife which has halted production, interrupted utility services—including railroad transportation—held up our shipping on both coasts, stopped the production of necessities all the way from steel to vacuum cleaners, and deprived industry and home-owners of coal for weeks? Does he assume that there is no "bitterness" or "conflict" represented in the losses, hardships, and inconveniences suffered by the millions of Americans through the arbitrary tactics of the Lewises, the Murrys, the Curran, the Bridges, the Whitneys and the Greens of organized labor?

What Senator Murray means, no doubt, is that any legislation which might compel organized labor to conform to the same standards of law and morals recognized by the unorganized masses of the United States might be regarded as a wicked "conspiracy" against the labor-politicians who have had the own unquestioned rule during the past decade. This, as Senator Murray implies, would amount to lese majesty, or a crime against the state. It would be unthinkable, for example to insist that members of Unions should be compelled to abide by the same code as that of non-Union citizens. It would be unthinkable that they should be equally responsible with employers for fulfillment of contracts, and equally culpable for exercising pressure, intimidation or coercion on workers.

Senator Murray has entirely misread the signs of the times if he thinks that the American people will continue to put up with the spoiled-brat policies of organized labor leaders out of fear that a halt to this tolerance will insure "serious bitterness and conflict."

The public has had a surfeit of "bitterness and conflict"—for which it has had to pay—and will sanction any reasonable means to end it. The easy way for members of labor organizations to avoid this "bitterness and conflict" is voluntarily to put themselves on the same level and moral standards as other citizens of the United States.

Special government department devoted only to its affairs and to the affairs of the sadly battered women and children in it.

"But," says the aforementioned reviewer, Harry Hansen, "the government can't even balance its budget. What sort of example could it set for the housewives?"

Good for Harry Hansen!

I have got around quite a bit for a number of years.

And I tell you here and now that there isn't anything wrong with the American home that wasn't wrong with it many years ago.

There were always fools and wastrels. There are more now, because there are more people and more people have more money.

It is a lot of rot always to look at the world with alarm and to "prove scientifically" that it is going to the dogs.

The world is full of good mothers and good wives and good homes today and will continue to go on that way. If the modern woman wants something a little different from household drudgery—I don't blame her.

Gardner Has Clever Plan For Breaking Up Soirees
Truman "Garden Variety" Senator, Opines Hayden
Low Wages Cut Banks Of School Teachers

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The new ambassador to Great Britain, O. Max Gardner, sails from New York aboard the liner America Feb. 6 to take over his London post.

Gardner and his wife have been feted at diplomatic parties in Washington for the past two weeks. Asked by an inquisitive newsmen how he stood up under this round of social gales, Gardner replied:

"I lived a virtuous life as a young man and am now calling on my reserves. But I have the trick for leaving early."

You know it is protocol at these diplomatic parties for all guests to stay until the highest ranking guest departs. At each party, I look up the highest ranking guest about 11 o'clock and show him a shiny new dollar.

"I tell him that this dollar is pure and virtuous and that I will give it to him if he will get right up at that moment and start home. Invariably, the guest takes the dollar and darts. Then I can go home early, too."

Senators' stenographers have long had the habit of helping their bosses "dress up" their floor speeches before copies go to the printers of the Congressional Record.

This happened the other day after Senator Hayden (D) of Arizona remarked that President Truman, during his Senate service, was a "common or garden variety" of legislator.

Dressed up by the stenographer, the line read that Mr. Truman "was at that time not distinguished."

Hayden happened to walk by a moment after the revision was made. He was shown the change—and didn't like it. A reporter standing by overheard him exclaim: "Oh, better leave it the way I said it. I think Mr. Truman will enjoy it."

Convening of the new Congress brought a heavy task for Dr. George W. Calvert, capitol physician who ministers to the aches and pains of the lawmakers.

Dr. Calvert intends to give all 96 senators and 435 representatives a thorough going physical examination. As new members have established themselves in their offices, they have received polite notes asking them to call on the doctor.

After examining each thoroughly, Dr. Calvert gives the individual lawmaker a private talk. He speaks of blood pressure, heart condition and then, if the situation warrants it, he solemnly warns the lawmaker cal pulling and hauling when announcement of the tour first was made.

Australia, which "contributed so greatly to the winning of the war, cried: 'Why South Africa, why not us?'"

And there were some who wondered whether a visit to India might not have been preferable as a supreme gesture aimed at unification of the sub-continent's hopelessly divided people.

Added to these was the more human question of Princess Elizabeth's forthcoming engagement to Prince Philip of Greece. The long South African journey will give the princess time to determine if the romance is truly of her heart.

It also will afford a breathing spell during which political tension in Greece may die down and make an eventual Anglo-Greek martial union something fraught with less complication than at the present.

The trip to South Africa comes at a time when repercussions of a recent controversial speech by Premier Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts still are being felt. It was an address reaffirming the doctrine of white supremacy in Africa, where the blacks, comprising the vast majority of the population, have extremely few civil rights.

There has been little noticeable resentment to Smuts' speech, but it did not go unnoticed on the Veldt and in the Kraals. Much of Africa's future may depend upon native reaction to Elizabeth's sympathetic smile and the majestic dignity of the imperial family.

When the Duke of Windsor as Prince of Wales was sent to South America, his official designation was ambassador of good-will.

But no one tried to hide the fact that Britain was anxious to drum up trade in Argentina and elsewhere. His mission was a great success on both scores.

And the inevitability of war with Germany unquestionably played a part in the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada and the United States, when the imperial couple ate hot dogs and drank beer on the Franklin D. Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park.

Support Orders Must Be Obeyed

Man Before Court On Charge He Refused To Comply With Order

OTHER NEWS OF COUNTY COURT

When either of the Lawrence county judges put a support order on a man, they mean business. But now and then someone imagines the court is not serious.

Henry Turner was before Judge John G. Lamoree Friday morning on a charge of failure to comply with a court order for support of his family. The judge wasted little time in the matter. When it was shown that Mr. Turner had refused to comply, the judge turned him over to the sheriff for safekeeping in the county jail until he decides the order means business.

TWO SENTENCES

Two sentences, each for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, were handed down Friday by Judge John G. Lamoree. John E. Dix and Mathew Mush were each fined $100 and costs and 30 days to the county jail. They will be released in three days if the fine and costs are paid.

RAISE YOU FIVE

Selling property for delinquent taxes is something like a poker game. The bidders sit in and raise each other's bids until finally one bidder drops out. The only difference is that in the property bids there are no "calls". Either they raise or drop out.

One lot in Union township that started at $20 Friday morning before the county commissioners, was finally raised until it was knocked down for $75. Then the lot was included in a plot of five and the five went for $280. Finally the five were included in a group of 19 and the same bidder was high again with a total of $420, of which $140 was for the additional 14 lots.

RE-ADVERTISEMENT BIDS

By resolution Friday morning, the County Commissioners voted to re-advertise the work of repairing the dockets in the register and recorder and prothonotary and clerk of courts offices.

The work will run over into 1948 and the bids will now be asked in such fashion that payments can be made in 1947 and in 1948. About half payment for the work is in the 1947 budget.

CASES FILED

The following cases have been filed in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar:

George W. Wilson of 46 Bluff street, New Castle, asks a divorce from Mary Dallas Wilson of 1406 Bellside street, Pittsburgh, upon the grounds of indignities to person and immorality. They were married December 30, 1940, in Cumberland, Md.

George K. Shaner, a minor, by his father, Elmer Shaner, of R. D. 5, asks an annulment of his marriage to Thelma Shaner of Mercer county. The libel charges that Shaner was induced by the parents of Mrs. Shaner to go to Mercer county September 12, 1945, and swear he was 21 when he was actually only 19.

Florence Ridenbaugh of 415 North Cascade street asks a divorce from Ambrose J. Ridenbaugh of 415 North Cascade street upon the grounds of indignities to person and cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married June 1, 1934, in New Castle.

Ethel Johnston Shaffer of R. D. 6 asks a divorce from Floyd E. Shaffer of R. D. 6, upon the grounds of indignities to person. They were married December 22, 1927, in New Castle.

Joseph F. DeMasse of Ellwood City asks a divorce from Stella Rose De Masse of Ellwood City upon the grounds of indignities to person. They were married March 6, 1943, in Ellwood City.

Frank J. Nido of New Wilmington enters a suit against Angelo and Angelina Nido of Beatty street, Lawrence county, for $345, which he claims they owe him. He avers that in 1943 he made an agreement with the defendants to turn over to them certain moneys and they were to open an account in an Ellwood City bank. He was then inducted into the Army and sent home certain moneys from time to time until the amount he had turned over was $1,886. When he returned from the Army he claims they refused to turn over the money, but finally did give him $1,541. He claims the balance of $345.

Asks Impounding Of All Loan Funds Payable To Britain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Sen. Dworshak (R) Idaho, called upon President Truman to impound all funds payable to Great Britain under the three billion 750 million dollar loan.

The senator said the president should take this action because Britain has violated terms of the credit agreement.

Dworshak cited reports that Great Britain's recent trade pact with Argentina "are inimicable to the conditions of the Anglo-American loan agreement" dated Dec. 6, 1945.

The new GOP senator urged Mr. Truman to order the loan funds impounded until congress by a majority vote "shall have determined that the United Kingdom is fully complying with the terms of her loan agreement with the United States".

THE PARENT PROBLEM

time limit is up, he will get instant pain. Don't send him to the chair for an indefinite period. Always announce as he is sentenced just how long—20 minutes for him, 10 minutes for the baby. Don't ask him to promise to be good.

Don't punish him to make him eat. Merely present at the beginning of the meal a very, very small portion of the most important food. Say nothing about his eating it. If after three minutes he has not begun to eat it, remove it, your lips sealed. Let him have no other food till his next mealtime when you will proceed in like fashion. Keep at this plan if it takes all winter. Please study carefully the enclosed bulletins, "Eating Problems" and "Jealousy," to be had by anybody else, each bulletin in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 43rd street, New York, N. Y. Try to praise and cuddle him more when he is good and never "rave" over the baby in his presence, nor compare them.

Swim Classes At Y.M.C.A. Popular

Boys Of Association Progressing
Through Phases Of National Aquatic Program

Swimming classes, part of the Y. M. C. A.'s national aquatic program, have proved popular at the central branch with many young boys progressing through different phases of the course, eager to become accomplished swimmers.

The program consists of fifty-three tests which are divided into five categories. These are beginner, minnow, fish, flying fish, shark, and junior life saver.

At the present time there are 95 boys working on tests above the beginner's stage, and about fifty boys engaged in the beginner's tests.

Boys who pass the beginner's test are then qualified to start the program, and those who pass the "shark" test will be qualified to enroll in the life-saving course which will begin in the spring.

Pass Tests

During the months of December and January the following boys passed tests in the different brackets:

Beginners—John Buckner, Mike Dittley, Jim McQuiston, Richard Gilbert, Theodore Redman, David Kelley, Jack Waggoner, John McCormick, Ralph Flowers, David Boudreau, and James McIntyre. Minnows—Carl Helmspiel, William Carr, Frank Hiller, Dan Salaman, Tom Whiteford, Fish—Wilbur Ford, Joseph Masters, Lee Peare, Gene Davis, Bill Hare, Jack Gray, Bill Clark, Darrell Wigton, Bill Richards, Larry Alier, Joseph Reed, Ernest DeRikos, Bill McQuiston, James Herbert, Walter Jenkins, David Rowe and Leonard LeCompte. Flying Fish—Joe Masters, Lee Peare, Gene Davis, Jack Gray, James Herbert, Everett McCune, Ernest DeRikos, Shark—Everett McCune, James Herbert and Gene Davis.

The work is being supervised and taught by William Winter, activities secretary, assisted by Arnold Lewis. The goal of the "Y" is to have every member a swimmer and every swimmer an expert.

SOME WEDDING PROBLEMS

Question: My fiance has a sister 11 years old whom I must ask to be in my wedding party. Just what part would she play? She is too old for a flower girl, is she not?

Answer: She will have to be a junior bridesmaid, since she is definitely too old to be a flower girl.

Question: Is it necessary that someone give the bride away?

Answer: It is not necessary unless the ceremony includes the question: "Who gives this woman to be married." Most brides, however, do have someone give them away for support going up the aisle if for no other reason.

Question: If a bride wears gloves, should the left one be removed at the altar and not put on again?

Answer: If the third finger of the left glove is slit, the glove need not be removed. Otherwise the left glove must be removed and usually it is not put on again.

Question: May the bridegroom best man and ushers wear tuxedos at a simple wedding ceremony taking place at 7 or 7:30 in the evening? The bride plans to wear a bridal gown and veil.

Answer: Formal evening weddings require formal evening clothes—swallow tail coat etc. If yours will be a simple home ceremony or even a church ceremony conducted along very simple lines the groom and best man may wear dinner clothes.

Question: Who pays for the church services at a wedding?

Answer: Church decorations awning (if any) to church door, organist's, soloist's and sexton's fees should be taken care of by the bride's family. In other words, her family assumes all church fees, except that of the officiating clergyman, which is assumed by the bridegroom.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Marines Announce Full-Scale Plans For Reserve Units

Four Components To Make Up Program Aimed To Keep Leathernecks At Strength

If World War II proved anything, it was that to fight a modern war the regular military establishments must be supplemented by a strong and well trained reserve. The Marine Corps saw its first reserve organization come into being in 1916, and after valuable service in World War I, developed into an organization similar in activities to the National Guard, but without appropriations for armories.

Today the Marine Corps Reserve is again in the process of reorganization. Its war service completed, it must again look toward future emergencies when its services will once more be in urgent demand.

Four components will make up the post-World War II Marine Corps Reserve—(1) The Fleet Marine Corps Reserve, (2) The Organized Reserve, (3) The Volunteer Reserve, and (4) The Womens Reserve.

The Fleet Marine Corps Reserve is composed of honorably discharged reservists who have transferred thereto after having served in the regular Navy or Marine Corps for periods of at least 16 years.

The Organized Reserve is made up of units which meet regularly for training.

These units are given a two-hour weekly period of instruction and drill, as well as a 15-day training period once yearly.

The Volunteer Reserve is made up of individuals who wish to keep or establish an affiliation with the Marine Corps Reserve but do not fall into any of the other reserve categories. This group does not participate in any regular training other than correspondence courses taken at their own request, but plans call for arrangements whereby members of the Volunteer Reserve may receive periods of field training if they so wish.

To Women's Reserve

Although legislation authorizing the establishment of a post-war Women's Reserve, is still in the planning stage, plans are being rushed ahead for the organization of a Marine Corps Women's Reserve to be composed of both "Volunteer" and "Organized" components.

All ex-Marines contemplating enlistment in the Marine Corps Reserve may apply at the local Marine Corps Recruiting Station for full details.

City Hall Rambler Gives Observations

There are different fines for different offenses according to city police. For instance, when a person receives a tag for violating a parking meter ordinance, it calls for a fine of one dollar, likewise a dollar for parking in a zone where parking is prohibited. Other amounts levied for offenses are as follows:

Three dollars, double parking; $5, too close to a fire hydrant; $3, for running through a red light; $2, for parking too close to a street intersection; $3, for parking on the wrong side of the street; $10, or prosecution before an alderman for speeding, and failure to heed a stop sign, $3.

When a person receives a tag he is instructed to report within 48 hours in traffic court. He has the privilege of paying the sergeant of police, if he wishes to plead guilty. Providing he does not report, a letter notifying him of the offense is mailed his address and he has 10 days to pay. If he does not appear, a warrant is then served and $1.50 is added as costs to the fine called for by the offense.

There are three men now in the police department who have been a chief of police here. The present chief is Robert D. Hanna. Ralph A. Criswell, now a patrolman, served as chief during the administration of Charles McGrath.

Willis G. McMullen was the chief during the second administration of Charles B. Mayne.

The current mayor, John F. Haven, was police chief during the first administration of Charles B. Mayne.

Both McMullen and Criswell have also acted as the head of the detective bureau, McMullen being in charge at present.

Spring-like weather until yesterday caused a softening of streets and provided plenty of work for the streets department. Ashes had to be hauled to muddy thoroughfares. Ashes also must be placed on "icy" hills whenever King Winter goes on a rampage and deluges the city with snow.

Inasmuch as there are 800 persons engaged in serving food and drink here, it is necessary for them to have physical examinations twice a year. The charge, when an examination is conducted by the city health physician, Dr. W. A. Womer, is $1. All certificates of health, whether made out by the city doctor or a private physician, must be submitted to the health bureau.

Withdrawal Route In China Is Again Severed Briefly

PEIPING, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Chinese Communist troops again severed the Tientsin-Peiping railroad today, blocking the withdrawal route to the port of Tientsin for American executive headquarters personnel stationed in Peiping.

The railroad station of Wei Shang Chuang was reported under attack by 6,000 Communist troops. Disruption of this vital rail traffic is usually brief, however, since the Communists invariably retreat upon the arrival of Nationalist reinforcements.

Communist patrol action also was reported on perimeter defenses of Peiping's south airfields.

Chinese press dispatches reported that Communist forces were hampering at the city of Cheng Ting, 52 miles south of Peiping, provincial capital of Hopei.

If Cheng Ting falls to the Reds it was feared that a Communist drive south along the Peiping-Hankow railroad will seriously threaten the important rail center of Shih-chi Chuang.

DRAW RIVER FOR BODY OF GIRL

BELLE VERNON, Pa., Feb. 1.—(INS)—Policemen and firemen today were dragging the Monongahela river for the body of Dolores Snyder, 17, of Lynwood, who either fell or jumped 60 feet from the Belle Vernon bridge.

Police Chief Vincent Isenberg said Barbara Poland, 16, a schoolmate of Dolores, told him the high school girl climbed the railing as the two were crossing the bridge last night, tumbled into the water.

She cried out twice, and then apparently went under, Miss Poland told Isenberg.

TRUCKS CANNOT HURDLE STATE LINE BARRIERS

When railroads were new, legislation limiting their speed to ridiculous limits was common, orators warned against riding in vehicles going at the "excessive" speed of 12 miles per hour. Railroads had to and did prove themselves.

When motor trucks were new, many states prescribed restrictive legislation, built up state line barriers that impeded the flow of merchandise and, repeating the early railroad days, issued dire warnings.

Motor trucks have proved themselves, but as modern and as efficient as they are they cannot hurdle state line barriers. It is a senseless and an expensive thing to hedge a state in with barriers that prevent the efficient flow of trade between the states. The barriers should be taken down.

USO Campaign Extended Week

Citizens Are Asked To Mail Contributions To Committee To Aid Service Men

The campaign to raise $15,000 for the United Service Organizations has been extended one week according to the announcement made today by Attorney Joseph Solomon, chairman of the campaign committee.

It was thought that the quota would be made the first week but contributions did not meet expectations so it is necessary to extend the campaign.

The committee is making an effort to raise $5.81 for each of the 2,584 Lawrence county men that are still in the service. This is indeed a small amount for all the services that USO renders.

It's so easy to forget now that the fighting is over but we must remember our boys who are still in the hospitals and the men on active duty with our occupation forces. USO camp shows and clubs are the only bright spots in the lives of these men. Remember, it's your brother, nephew or the boy next door who is still serving. Won't you contribute to give them the "home away from home"?

This campaign will take some effort on the part of every citizen of Lawrence county. You have to sit down and write the check and mail it. No one will come around and annoy you until you give your contribution. It's up to you, don't let them down. Mail your check today to the Rev. Thomas J. Jones, 100 East Reynolds street, or to Attorney Joseph Solomon in the Union Trust building.

Believe Graziano Shielding 'Fixer'
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Assistant Attorney General John P. Powers charged today that Rocky Graziano is shielding the identity of the men who offered him a $100,000 bribe to throw the Reuben Shank fight because he fears "trouble".

Powers has been assigned to the state athletic commission's probe of Graziano's failure to report the bribe offer to "take a dive" in the Dec. 27 Madison Square Garden fight, which was cancelled because of Rocky's illness.

The hearing meanwhile was in adjournment until next Tuesday.

NOW WE ARE CERTAIN SUPERCARGO IS GOOD

When a new product comes on the market, the manufacturer and the dealer is on the anxious seat for a while to find out what the public thinks of it. So it was with American Bantam's Supercargo Trailer, for which we are the dealer.

But we'll worry no more. Our best friend and severest critic, Horatius Q. McGiverly (of the Spring Hill McGiverly's) was in yesterday. We didn't ask his opinion, no one ever does that. You just wait for it.

Finally it came. As he was leaving he looked back at Supercargo on the floor and said "I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it. Now they've made a trailer that seems darn near perfect".

Recommendations For Greater Safety In Flying Studied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Congress today studied 40 recommendations by an airline pilots representative for greater safety in air travel.

The recommendations were submitted to the House Interstate Commerce Committee by David L. Behncke, head of the Airline Pilots Association, who declared that "there is no longer the slightest excuse" for fires on airliners.

Meanwhile, Sen. Brewster (R) Maine, said that no expenditure recommendations of this commerce air safety subcommittee would go outside the budget.

Brewster declared that subcommittee safety recommendations, to be made after hearings are completed in perhaps a week or ten days, would call for use of available funds.

Hazard Should Be Liked

In his recommendations to the House committee, Behncke declared that "air fires are becoming more frequent" and that "the fire hazard should by this time be liked."

He said: "Nothing should be installed on any airline aircraft that isn't free from fire hazard."

Behncke proposed fireproofing plane interiors, installation of better electrical systems, elimination of gasoline cabin heaters, and the setting up of federal standards regarding fire fighting and crash equipment at airports.

Brewster, in discussing expenditure recommendations, referred to possible minimum and maximum expenses estimated for complete radio, radar, lighting and fog dispersal equipment necessary for safer flying.

Hold Installation For Wampum Pastor

Rev. Thorhauer Installed Thursday Evening To Pulpit Of Wampum Presbyterian Church

Wampum Presbyterian church was the scene of an impressive service Friday evening when the new pastor, Rev. J. H. Thorhauer, was officially installed to the pulpit of the church.

Dr. John Orr, of New Wilmington, served as moderator for the service with Rev. K. T. Yahn, of the Wampum Methodist church, reading the scripture lesson and Rev. John Bates, of Elderton, Pa., and Rev. W. J. Holmes, of New Castle, led in prayer.

Delivers Charge

The Rev. Charles Bell, of Ellwood City, delivered the charge to the congregation, outlining the four requisites of every congregation in their duty to their pastor. He stated the things that must be done if the congregation is to work along harmoniously with the pastor.

Rev. Edgar Tait, in his timely remarks, stated as he gave the charge to the pastor, that the pastor must do his duty in discharging his responsibility to his members. He pointed out numerous requirements of an incoming pastor.

Rev. J. M. Fife, of Westfield church, who delivered the address of the evening, pointed out the church as a teacher and that Christ must be held up at all times if men are to be drawn to Him.

Has Assumed Duties

During the service, Mrs. George Herbert was presented as soloist. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Houk. At the conclusion of the installation the group retired to the church dining room where a reception was held honoring the new minister.

The new minister, Rev. Thorhauer, assumed his duties at the Wampum church early in January after serving for three years at the Worthington Presbyterian church. Previous to that he had served at the Patton, Pa., Presbyterian church. He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and Western Theological Seminary also of Pittsburgh.

Rev. and Mrs. Thorhauer and their seven year old daughter, Beth Ann, moved into the Presbyterian Manse on January 10.

The students met in a special chapel where brief opening exercises were conducted led by Miss Geraldine Currie which included the salute to the flag and the singing of Gospel choruses.

Louis A. Mooney, president of the New Castle Gideons, took charge of the presentation. Assisting him were Gideons Clara Lutz and Walter Bender.

Mr. Mooney presented Rev. George Fiesel, pastor of the Grace Bible church who spoke briefly concerning the work of the Gideons that is being carried on throughout the country.

Bobby Shoaff, a student of the school, from memory recited the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of John.

The New Testament distribution campaign of the Gideons has already been carried out in the Ellwood City district, North Liberty township, in Rochester, Beaver and other public schools of the area.

Criticizes Proposals For Overhauling Of Courts-Martial Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Severe criticism of proposal to overhaul the Army's court-martial system was carried today in a semi-official service publication.

P. B. Wiener, a reserve colonel in the judge advocate general's department, asserted in the Infantry Journal that the America Bar association committee's recommendations on military justice were inappropriate for the Army.

Wiener, in commenting on the committee's recent report to Secretary of War Patterson, declared:

"Many of them reflect an utter lack of appreciation of military needs and organization, and a complete misapprehension of soldier psychology."

Sheriffs Will Join Battle On Juvenile Delinquency In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Still another branch of the law enforcement network in the United States gave notice today of its enlistment in the all-out war against juvenile delinquency.

The National Sheriffs' Association has made public its own strategy in the battle initiated by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, taken up by police departments all over the nation and espoused by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

The sheriffs' own anti-delinquency plan, as set forth in a 105-page manual, describes the recommended organization of "junior deputy sheriffs' leagues" which would enlist the boys' assistance on the side of law and order.

The association notes that there are more than 200 such leagues in operation at the present time.

Secret Estimates Indicate Larger Government Income

Republican Aims For Balanced Budget And Tax Cut Are Increased

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Republican aims for a balanced budget and a tax reduction were increased today by secret estimates showing that government income will be one billion, 300 million dollars greater than forecast by President Truman.

The new estimates show a deficit for the present fiscal year ending June 30 of one billion dollars, as contrasted with a deficit of two billion, 300 million anticipated in the president's budget message.

These figures were supplied to the Senate-House group now working to set a federal "ceiling" on spending during the next fiscal year. They were compiled by the staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

Must Pare Budget

Thus, the Republican congressional economy group must pare only one billion dollars from federal spending during the remaining five months of the fiscal year to achieve the first balanced budget in 18 years.

This development came as Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, joined House Republican leader in forecasting that Congress will authorize a graduated scale of income tax reductions instead of the proposed 20 per cent across-the-board cut.

The Republican Senate leader said that Congress will not approve a flat 20 per cent cut, but "there probably will be a graduated income tax cut, such as 10, 15 and 20 per cent."

It was assumed the senator meant that the lower figure would apply to high income brackets and the higher reduction to low income levels.

Requests Help In Disposing Of Huge WAA Property List

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn Friday asked Congress to help him put an early end to his job of getting rid of the government's multi-billion dollar stock of surplus war property.

Littlejohn, in a quarterly report to Congress, said that legislation is needed to simplify priority provisions of the surplus property act and to enable the armed services to declare all their remaining surplus.

He explained that the present regulations stifle disposal by requiring offerings to various categories of priority holders. He added that the Army and Navy cannot decide how much surplus they have until action by Congress permits termination of peacetime needs.

Littlejohn reported that to date the government has realized 2.6 billion dollars from the sale of 8.2 billion dollars' worth of surplus.

The latter figure excludes real estate leased and 3.9 billion dollars' worth of aircraft sold "on the hoof," mostly for scrap.

He said that these figures represented a return to the government of 32 cents for every dollar of purchase cost of the materials sold.

State Files Reveal Original Papers Of Incorporation

Auditor General's Department Discovers 1869 Papers For Wampum Company

The formation of the Wampum Mining and Manufacturing company at a meeting held March 23, 1869, is of interest as a page out of the history that is Pennsylvania's industrial background.

In looking through the departmental files, State Auditor General G. Harold Wagner found the original incorporation papers. They were certified to Governor John White Geary on September 15, 1869.

The purposes are defined as "the quarrying of limestone and building stone, the mining of coal, ore, fire-clay and other minerals, the manufacture of lime and the shipment and vending of the products of our quarries, mines and limekilns in the natural state or in such manufactured condition as may be deemed advisable."

The property was located near the Wampum station of the New Castle and Beaver Valley Railroad.

The capital stock of $30,000 was divided into six hundred shares with a par value of $50 each.

The original board of directors was comprised of J. G. Chamberlain, president, John K. Shinn and William P. Shinn.

SEVEN ESSENTIALS FOR GOOD POULTRY MANAGER

A list of seven essentials to a sound poultry business reminds that efficient operation is important at all times, perhaps particularly so during 1947.

The list includes: continuous close culling to keep hens moving out of the flock when they become less valuable as layers than for meat; greater use of labor saving practices and methods which help get the work done well; and more chicks started in cold weather. These will supply eggs when prices are highest and help correct a condition of over-supply in the spring.

Other factors in good poultry management include better ranges to reduce cash costs in growing out pullets and to lower hazards which may cause losses by death; elimination of all causes of waste; production of more high-quality eggs through better care, and more well-finished, nicely-dressed meat birds.

Finally, and not the least important—better housing facilities which can be provided by remodeling present quarters or in the construction of new buildings.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1.—You can put down the name of Gale Sherwood as a girl who always knew what she wanted.

She wanted to be a movie star. She's just getting her big screen break in "tragic symphony" for Allied artists. She sings—beautifully, too.

Her story started back in Hamilton, Ontario. Her birthplace, when she was three.

She sang a little song and her mother liked it.

"My mother always had wanted a career as a singer, but she never was able to realize it," Gale said, "but, she encouraged me from the time she wanted me to have the career which was denied her."

When Gale was nine the family moved to Hollywood. Gale gave the reason:

"Obviously there was a much greater chance for a career here than in Hamilton."

"You see, years ago I made up my mind what I was going to do and I stuck to it."

Gale went to high school, but she also worked hard every day on her singing.

U. S. Was Ready To Seize Azores Says Admiral

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(INS)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King revealed today that early in 1941 the United States was prepared to seize the Portuguese Azores to save the vital base from Germany.

King, former chief of naval operations, made this disclosure in analyzing German's naval weakness during World War II.

King, now on duty in the Secretary of Navy's office, revealed that the United States made these plans with the unofficial approval of Portugal. At that time German seizure of the strategic islands located in the mid-Atlantic was feared.
